Trans-Siberian

written by Alexandra Litvina

illustrated by Anna Desnitskaya

A new title by the authors of our bestseller «The Old Russian Home. Russia Inside». It is high time to break stereotypical image and embrace Russia with all its diversity.

Stitching the patchwork of Russia, the Trans-Siberian Railway (or just the Trans-Sib in short) is the longest railway in the world. It has been connecting people, their lives, stories and history for more than a century. For Russia and for the whole world, it is a complex symbol: tragic, romantic and heroic at once. This book unravels the railway through stories told by local people living along the Trans-Sib, allowing readers to immerse themselves in an iconic journey through everyday experiences.

In the book you will also find information about regions and stations with some pieces of advice for travelers as well as short historical notes and tips on how to organise your life in the train in which people spend a whole week. Even if you are not planning to embark on a real Trans-sib train, you will enjoy this virtual dream tour.

Author

Alexandra Litvina is an editor, historian, author of historical books and guide books. She wrote «The Old Russian Home» and «Metro on the ground and underground» (co-authored with Anna Desnitskaya). Alexandra is a collector. She participates in many performances dedicated to the history of costume and daily life.

Illustrator

Anna Desnitskaya is one of the most famous modern Russian illustrators in her own country and in the world. She was awarded prestigious Russian and international prizes for her books. She is a winner of the Golden Apple at Biennial of Illustration in Bratislava and the Russian Book Illustration Contest «Image of the Book».

In 2019 Anna was selected for the Illustrators Exhibition of Bologna Children Book Fair.

The Old Russian Home. Russia Inside

written by Alexandra Litvina
illustrated by Anna Desnitskaya

One Century, One Family, One Story. Discover the closed pages of the Russian history.

This picture book tells the story of a six-room Moscow apartment throughout the 20th century through little residents' diary records, historical facts and description of simple household items of different historical periods. The readers, reflected in the microcosm of the apartment, are invited to immerse into the events shaping Russia and the world: upheavals and triumphs, wars and revolutions, days of glory and darkest hours.

We open the door into our own home and talk openly about ourselves. Many things were left unsaid for a very long time, it is high time to change it.

There is also a workbook (6+) based on this book. Different tasks will help children to learn more about their family's story.

Grasshopper

Illustrated by Tatiana Ukhova

A truthful and striking picture story about responsibility and respect for nature.

It is a hot summer day in the countryside. The world around is full of beautiful and intriguing creatures. Children are left to their own devices. A lonely girl meets a lonely grasshopper. What will this occasional meeting result in?

There are no words in this book. But sometimes they are useless: you just have to open your eyes and listen – to understand how fragile this world is.

The Volcano That Was Angry

written and illustrated by Natasha Bayduzha

Sometimes outburst of emotions is inevitable, especially if we speak about a volcano, a very young one.

It's a story of a little Volcano that often got angry and destroyed everything around him. This book does not teach to cope with anger, to control temper, to be nice and sweet. We will just keep an eye on the character and maybe will recognize ourselves or some of our loved ones. It's not a guide to follow, it's not a warning or advice, but the author wishes to suggest making a few steps aside to look at the anger. And everyone will make their own conclusion – or won't!

Ambishwalf

written and illustrated by Olia Lisichnikova

Enjoy funny riddles! Develop imagination!
Learn colours and animals!

Page by page we read a riddle in verse and follow an animal without a head. Can you try to guess what it is? Bang! At the very end it turns out to be an imaginary creature with the name Ambishwalf. The author offers children to draw the head of the animal on the last page. Ambishwalf doesn't mean anything special. It just reminds us that little children like inventing new words. While reading this book, parents and children will have an opportunity to discuss colours and animals – and to have some fun.

A STORY OF ONE ANIMAL!

Author and illustrator

Olia Lisichnikova is a lover of children books and illustrations from Siberia. She has a degree in graphic design, however, she is involved in many different projects: from toys painting to arts and crafts workshops for children. Her drawing classes with children have pushed her to the book illustration. Children and their creativity are the main source of inspiration for Olia.

Funny and colorful books about summer and winter adventures of three Polar Bear brothers. Enjoy the illustrations which are full of humoristic and stylish details!

Bears' Vacation

written and illustrated by Katerina Gorelik

Summer is just around the corner, and for our protagonists, three polar bears, that means one thing: a vacation! They want to have it all, right here and right now – and who cares if they get sore throat from eating too much ice-cream, a tummy ache from munching on too much fruit or bruises from the water rides. Because that's why you go on holidays – to make fun memories you can bring back home!

Bears and the New Year

written and illustrated by Katerina Gorelik

It's New Year's eve and the family is gathering at the polar bears' house: a panda from China, a Himalayan bear from Tibet and a tough Russian bear have arrived. Only here at the North Pole one can really enjoy winter fun in all its kaleidoscopic glory: a deer ride, a dip in the ice hole, even racing against an avalanche and a Yeti – all the ingredients for a magical and unforgettable holiday!

Author and Illustrator

Katerina Gorelik graduated from the British Higher School of Art and Design in Moscow. She is a freelance illustrator. She started making children picture books in 2017 and her debut – bright and successful – is the Bears' Vacation. She loves traveling: it gives her inspiration for new characters, plots and colours.

 HISTORY AND CULTURE!

written and illustrated by Roman Belyaev

Learn interesting facts about ancient and intriguing constructions: lighthouses, bridges, windmills.

What does a lighthouse serve for? What does a lighthouse keeper do? What is inside a light tower? What is the lamp power in it? How does a simple lamp give such a strong light ray? How far can the light shine?

Why do we need bridges? How were they built in old times and how is it done today? What bridges are the best of the best? What are the most ancient, famous and beautiful? What are the longest, highest and widest? Are there any bridges in art? Roman Belyaev answers all these and many other questions in a simple and interesting form and his illustrations are just marvelous. He chooses different angles to speak about the workings of these iconic constructions. And the next title will be about windmills!

Author and Illustrator

Roman Belyaev graduated from the British Higher School of Art and Design. For more than ten years he has been working in advertising – specializing in character design and film posters. He works mainly in digital painting but he likes making ink and pencils sketches, too.

Eugene Onegin Graphic Guide

written by Alexander Pushkin commented by Aleksey Oleinikov illustrated by Natalia Yaskina

Find a clue to the mysterious Russian soul through comments on an immortal masterpiece by the founder of modern Russian literature language.

It's is a bright and vivid textual and graphic comment on the classic of Russian literature – Eugene Onegin, a novel in verse written by Alexander Pushkin between 1823 and 1830. The author and illustrator explain to the audience of the 21st century what the life was in Russia at that time. They describe social, cultural and historical facts in a spectacular form.

The novel «Eugene Onegin» is well known all over the world. There is an opera, a ballet and a few films based on it. Apart from the famous love story, this novel is usually called the encyclopedia of the Russian life.

A True Girl: the Book about You

written by Lena Klimova

illustrated by Vlada Myakonkina

Encyclopedia for every girl who is making a difficult way through adolescence.

It's the first Russian book that frankly speaks to girls in plain language and without stereotypes. About body, puberty and sex. About healthy lifestyle and body positivity. About self-belief, self-judgment and self-control. About relations and love. About friends, bullying and sincere support. About future, self-realization, education and career choice.

It's not an instruction but a friendly guide which gives to girls feminist optics and adequate self-perception.

Author

Lena Klimova is a feminist, journalist and editor. She established Children-404 which is a scandal ridden online community for LGBTI adolescents. This project offers psychological support to LGBT teens, they can share their problems and get help from adult participants. Despite its popularity, this initiative received a negative reaction and caused legal charges for Lena in Russia. It also attracted attention outside Russia.

Illustrator

Vlada Myakonkina is an artist and illustrator. She followed a course in illustration at the British Higher School of Art and Design. Now she works as an art-editor at Samokat Publishing House and coordinates Samokat's Award – The Book Inside. Vlada is an editor of all books published by Samokat within The Book Inside contest.

A PAPER ORCHESTRA INSIDE!

Teo is a Theatre Captain

written by Nina Dashevskaya
illustrated by Yulia Sidneva

A tale of mice, men, courage, orchestras and dreams of the sea.

Teo is a mouse, teenager, and resident of an opera house where he lives with his family. Teo knows the opera house inside and out – and takes the reader along to explore every corner of it. It can be dangerous for mice to run into people at the theatre, but that doesn't stop Teo from befriending Kostya, the orchestra's drummer. Kostya is considered a bit of an oddball in his circle, but Teo is no ordinary mouse either: he loves music and dreams of going to the sea. Can a little mouse even aspire to such a big destiny? And what is he willing to do for it?

Author

Nina Dashevskaya is a writer and musician that's why there is always a place for music in her books. She is a violinist at two Moscow orchestras. Nina was awarded many great literary prizes: Gold award winner of «The golden pen of Russia» (2010), three-time winner of the Russian annual award for the best teen fiction – «Kniguru» (2012, 2014, 2015), winner of «The new literature for children» contest (2014), winner of the Krapivin Children Literary Award (2014). I am not a Dopey

written by Nina Dashevskaya

The moment when big children turn into little adults.

When did you go on a kick scooter last time? Twelve-year-old Ignat, for example, can hardly manage without it. Everybody is so slow, he thinks. How impatient this guy is, adult people say. But Ignat is not a scatterbrain at all, he has so many different things in mind. Just his most obsessive thought is to move as quickly as possible. And what if speed is not always calculated in meters per second? What if Ignat is left behind? What if he has lost the essentials in his race? All these questions suddenly arise and Ignat is about to look for the answers. He will brake for some time... to admire Moscow, to listen to music on the street, to enjoy the time with his little brother, to help a stranger, to get on with some intriguing age-mates and to realize that he actually has true friends. A play based on this book had its premiere in Russia in 2018.

written by Nina Dashevskaya

What is strange and what is normal? Who decides it? What we lose when we follow stereotypes and prejudice?

Leva Inozemtsev (Lion Foreigner in the translation) loves logical things as music and mathematics, he wears red trousers and lives with his grandparents. Everybody at school thinks that he is weird. The only girl who Leva gets along with sits next to the guy who mocks him the worst way. Nobody understands Leva – or almost nobody?

This book unites two stories. The characters of the second one is encoded a little, and intrigued readers need some time to understand that it is just the same story continued but as viewed by another person – by that guy who mocked Leva.

Bald Devils

written by Artem Lyakhovich

A road fiction with numerous dangers and rescues written in a vivid language of young people. A touching and funny story about the first love and friendship, good and evil, relations between children and parents, between a woman and a man.

Ljanka is a glamour looking teen girl. She sings like an angel, goes swimming, learns Arabic and Japanese. Marik moves from one town to another with his mother who looks for her love. He does not make friends and stays alone like an odd bird. These two seem to be so different but they have one thing in common – their families provoke a strong desire to run far away from them. And that's exactly what Ljanka and Marik do after shaving their heads bald to misdirect their chasers. They take the road to look for the Blue Lake – the one which Marik's father showed him many-many years ago. And so the adventures begin.

Art Class

written by Evgeniia Basova

What to do if your only and best friend tries to kill you? When does loyalty should give place to survival instinct?

Sveta wears glasses and likes drawing cats. She feels very lonely until she gets close with a new girl in the class. Though Katja does very strange and incomprehensible things, Sveta believes that they are the best friends for the whole life. Sveta follows her feelings but will her survival instinct switch in time?

It's a story about naivety and being open to the world which is full of troubles, inequality and aggression. It's about weakness and power, about different worlds within one society. The author offers insight into the life of an ordinary teenager who feels like a stranger to herself, to the family, to the school, to the whole universe. She learns to live – the process which everyone goes through sooner or later.

House behind the Rainbow

written by Ekaterina Murashova

This fantasy touches such important subjects as soul searching, problem of choice, inclusivity, making mistakes, friendship with someone unlike you, parent-child relationship, death in the family, tolerance and many other aspects which arise for modern teenagers.

The e-world is close to a usual life on the Earth, while the i-world is some sort of virtuality. Everyone switches from one world to another to their pleasure and the life is almost ideal: you have all possibilities to choose a career, every family has an electronic helper, disabled people are integrated in the society, there is nothing to be worried about. But everything is so regulated that there is no place for those who have imagination and spirit of freedom. A teenager Dim is just like that – a curious adventurer, a real Tom Sawyer who is dangerous for every system. The system makes all abnormal individuals undergo a surgery – they become happy but lose their identity. So, the only way for Dim to keep his identity is to run away. He is tagged along by Alya – a mentally handicapped girl. What is behind the frontiers of a habitual area? Will these two teenagers survive together in a wild country? Are there any other runaways? Will they be left by the system which controls all around? Is there is a house behind the rainbow?

Who knows what future awaits the gifted children? What adult people will they grow up into? Many of them, alas, waste their potential. Some become ordinary habitants, while others destroy themselves and suffer from losing the uniqueness. But these guys receive the second chance. Talented children and teens of different age are taken to an artificial planet ruled by a sort of research institution. It's a parallel reality, a new immortal life after life. Now they can change the past but not their own: they prevent accidents and rescue victims. They are siblings – boys and girls who are at one with each other. But they still have their own fears and desires. Is there any future for those who can change the past? The novel raises many questions and after reading you keep coming back to it.

LENINGRAD TALES SERIES BY JULIA YAKOVLEVA

Russian press acclaimed Raven's Children to be the main event in the Russian children's literature of the year 2016.

Five novels follow Shurka, Tanya, their little brother Bobka and their adopted sister Sarah, from 1938 to 1948. The darkest pages in the Russian history – the time of the Great Terror, the Second World War, the Siege of Leningrad – are shown through the eyes of children. The real history is mixed with a fantasy world. The author succeeds to combine the elements of tales and thriller novels to tell about the terrible circumstances and she does it with respect to the history and to all those people – our parents and grandparents – who lived at that time. The characters are ordinary children who love to have fun, who look for the truth and justice, who have their questions to adults. It is a story of survival and childhood in the Soviet Union. It is about fear and courage, indifference and hope, it's about importance to be free in your thoughts and actions at any time and at any age.

Raven's Children

Siblings Shurka and Tanya live in Leningrad (as Saint Petersburg was called at the Soviet period). One night their father suddenly goes away on a trip, the next day their mother and baby brother disappear, too. Shurka and Tanya are left alone. People around whisper that it's the Raven which has taken away their family. But what is that Raven and who will tell the brother and sister where to look for him?

Stolen City

Leningrad is sieged. The house where Shurka, Tanya and Bobka lived after losing their parents is bombed out. Winter is getting closer and closer and the children are starving. The new neighbors are disappearing. Their aunt Vera has left and she is not back, yet. And more than that Tanya has lost their food stamps. This cold empty city is like chasing those who are still alive. Looking for the rescue, the children find a way to Tuonela – a world where the time stops and there are different rules in force.

2017 Longlisted for the International Children Literary Award named after Vladislav Krapivin

Bugs don't Complain

Shurka, Tanya and Bobka have finally left sieged Leningrad. They are separated again, though they can feel each other at the distance and know that all of them are alive. The war is everywhere. There is no mercy for anybody and anything. And if people and bombs are so weak against the war, it's high time for magic spells.

Wolf's Sky

The war is not over, yet. Shurka, Bobka and their adopted sister Sara live with their uncle in Leningrad. They lost Tanya who wanders around the city looking like a cat. They are together but each of them is so lonely, each one is breaking into pieces. The circle of the war, their fears and the past is shrinking more and more. And that's when the magic world with alive monuments and toys reminds about itself.

The book 5 to be published soon.

Nikita is Looking for the Sea

written by Daria Vardenburg

illustrated by Olesya Gonserovskaya

What happens to the world of a little boy when all his dreams and plans are breaking?

A soft and touching story of Nikita – a city 7 years boy who dreamt of going to the sea with his parents, but now has to spend a summer time at the countryside with a grand-aunt who he didn't know before. He opens the village life for himself, he explores his own feelings both positive and negative, he learns to be brave and strong, he makes friends – a girl Olya, a little mouse and a dog Sputnik, he learns to respect their freedom and much more than that. All this experience becomes possible thanks to his grand-aunt who is a lonely and independent person. She dreamt of becoming an astronomer and now she teaches Nikita everything she knows. This unusual grand-aunt talks to Nikita as he is an adult and one day she will take him to the sea which turns out to be so close.

I am an Elephant

written by Vladimir Rudak

illustrated by Elena Uzhinova

It is the first Russian comic book with the focus on disability.

An elephant and a poppet tell their story on a stage. Like any brilliant actor they make us laugh and feel sorrow but the most important thing is that they open to us the door to the world of disabled people. We witness their everyday life with all worries and thoughts, discrimination and paternalism, fun and boredom. This book should help to destroy the wall dividing people into two worlds: with and without disabilities.

Vladimir Rudak wrote the text «I am an elephant» in a Moscow rehabilitation center. It is based on his personal experience. He says that «this book is about the thoughts of a man looking forward to the moment of unity of his crippled body and inner «I», who does not want to accept that life is fragile like a porcelain vase of the Jingdezhen craftsmen, and that it's time to forget about the old plans and start making new ones».
